Roomy, Retro, Ready to Grow and Walking To Ruthven Station!

Set behind a landscaped front lawn on a generous allotment, this brick home carries the warmth and honesty of its era. A classic street presence, mature trees and a long driveway with covered carport and garaging set the tone before you even step inside, while the deep, established backyard is the real story here, dotted with productive fruit trees and offering the kind of space that has become increasingly hard to find. It is a setting that suits families wanting room to spread out, gardeners, hobbyists, and buyers looking for a home with genuine character and clear scope to add value over time. Inside, the home invites you to imagine. A bright living
